11 October 1936 Fodens Brass Band played their annual concert at the REGENT CINEMA (THEATRE) in Hanley along with the Potteries Choral Society.

The Crewe Chronicle dated the 10 February 1940 announced that the stage manager of the Crewe Theatre Mr William Myers had died that week after a short illness, he was 63 years old. He had been the stage manager of the Regent, Hanley until 1912 when he went on tour with the Ennis Lawson Repertory Company. In 1932 he started work at the New Theatre, Crewe and continued until his death. In 1950 the building changed to the Gaumont when it started to become a venue for pop shows.

In the 1960's the organists at the Regent were Felton Rapley and Trevor Tidsley. The Wurlitzer organ was last played in 1969 and was sold for £500.

The building was owned David Wilde during 1965. While running the building, there were a number of important concerts by well-known artists in the 1960's.

20 Oct 1963 ROLLING STONES -- The tour included two shows.

Nov 1964 DUSTY SPRINGFIELD goes on tour with Herman Hermits, Dave Berry and the Cruisers and Brian Poole and the Tremeloes starting at the Granada Theatre, Edmonton, London and ending at the Gaumont Theatre, Hanley, Staffordshire.

In 1974 the theatre closed and a new triple Screen Cinema was installed and opened in 1976 by the ODEON chain of Cinemas.

Eventually in 1989 the ODEON Cinema closed as the chain decided to build a complex at Festival Park. The cinema ended with a charity showing of the Disney Classic "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

In 1999 it became the REGENT THEATRE when it was taken over by the Ambassador Theatre group who turned it into a large Theatre venue. The first show was on the 21- 25 Sept 1999 when ANNIE starring Lesley Joseph as Miss Hannigan took to the stage.

H.M. The Queen officially opened the theatre on the 28 October 1999.
